INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL VILLAGE

June 10th - July 11th at Birchwood, Johannesburg, South Africa

PREMIER VISITS INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL VILLAGE

1 July 2010, Johannesburg: It's not just locals and international visitors who have found the International Football Village the place to be during the World Cup™, Gauteng Premier, Nomvula Mokoyane has also become a big fan.

"The Premier joined us on Tuesday afternoon and we couldn't have been happier to host her," says Jazzman Mahlakgane, Marketing Director of the Birchwood Hotel and O.R. Tambo Conference Centre. "Premier Mokoyane certainly enjoyed her time with us and was impressed with the set up we are offering our guests."

What makes the International Football Village so unique from other places where you can gather to watch the kings of the beautiful game strut their stuff on pitch, is that the Village recognises that the duration of the tournament is about so much more than just football. This private-sector initiative has been designed to enable fans to celebrate soccer in an environment that showcases true South African hospitality, whilst extending a warm African welcome to visitors. Not only has the International Football Village become a sought after venue for watching the games, but they have also become synonymous with hosting South Africa's top bands from Freshly Ground to Lira, the Parlotones and Big Nuz.

The Village runs until the 11th of July 2010 when you can gather to watch the final two nations battle it out for national pride and World Cup™ glory.

"if you haven't been to the International Football Village as yet, why not do as the Premier and come and visit us today. Fan tickets are only R100 a piece and you get so much more than just watching the game," concludes Mahlakgane.

Editors Notes: Fan-Ticket for the day cost R100 with access to all public areas. Corporate tickets are available at R500 with access to a central corporate room (meal and private viewing) and public areas as well. Tickets are available from Computicket or at the Birchwood Hotel.
